Scharrenberg Quits AFL Here to Help ISU Heads In War on Progressives

Vandeleur Appointed Sec'y of State Federation

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—Paul Scharrenberg, secretary of the California Federation of Labor for 25 years, resigned to become the International Seamen's Union representative at the national capital. Edward D. Vandeleur, resigned as president to accept the full-time secretarial job. James E. Hopkins, of the San Francisco Teamsters' Union, was appointed to succeed Vandeleur.

Scharrenberg was expelled from the Sailors' Union of the Pacific at the conclusion of the oil tanker strike last summer. Two of the numerous charges placed against Scharrenberg were calling a strike without submitting same to the rank and file vote and organizing a company union. He refused to appear before a trial committee to defend himself. Since then, Scharrenberg's only connection with the International Seamen's Union has been his editorship of the red-baiting Seamen's Journal which has been boycotted by all the maritime unions on the West Coast.

BIRDS OF FEATHER

As head of the bureau maintained by the I. S. U. in Washington, D. C., Scharrenberg will be closer than ever to the other reactionary members of the I. S. U. Executive Committee which revoked the charter of the Sailors' Union of the Pacific and tied up its funds in court actions. Judge Shortall dismissed the restraining order against the funds of the S. U. P. on March 12th. They were immediately tied up again by an appeal from his decision filed in the State Supreme Court by Attorney Hutton representing the I. S. U. of A.

While the Executive Committee is planning further attacks on the other crafts on the West Coast, rebellion against the Committee's selfish policies was flaring on the East Coast and Gulf. The crews of the principal ships in New York Harbor yesterday elected committees to send to a mass meeting at which the question of a port-wide strike would be decided.

This tense situation began with the attempted victimization of the crew of the S.S. California over the three-day strike in San Pedro for a five-dollar raise and overtime pay. The New York waterfront strike committee is leading the struggle, the first big battle against the attempt of Secretary of Commerce, Roper, in league with the shipowners to deny seamen the right to strike by using mutiny charges and the blacklist. A demand is also being made for the West Coast scale of wages and overtime.

SHIP SCABS

An attempt is being made by the same reactionary East Coast officials, who revoked the charter of the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, to ship scabs for the California and the American Trader which struck yesterday. WPA officials are aiding the union officials in the attempt to recruit scabs. Picketing was extended to the Division of Unemployed and Transients' employment office to forestall any attempt to ship scabs there.

A call went out from the strike committee for a mass meeting to be held at the Manhattan Lyceum to discuss demands. Among the topics for discussion were, a scale of pay equal to the West Coasts, shipping through the union hall, an eight-hour day for stewards, and the building of a maritime federation on the East Coast.

Maritime Federation, I. L. A. Convention Calls Issued

The annual convention of the Pacific Coast District of the International Longshoremen's Association to be held in San Pedro beginning May 5th, will be closely followed by the annual convention of the Maritime Federation of the Pacific on May 15th at the same port.

Officials for the year following will be chosen at both conventions. A different procedure in choosing the district president for the I. L. A. will be followed this year in conformity with the amended constitution. Previously the president was elected by the delegates at the convention. The new and more democratic constitution provides that the president shall be elected by the rank and file members from the two nominees receiving the highest number of votes by delegates at the convention.

REACTIONARIES ACTIVE

Some of the reactionary officials of the I. L. A. locals up north are getting primed for the convention in earnest. Their "Mouthpiece" on the staff of the "Pacific Coast Longshoremen" started the campaign with all the venom of a Tammany Hall politician, attacking the strategic move of the progressive San Francisco I. L. A. local for a Congressional investigation of the ship-owners' planned attack on the maritime unions. This same group, thought to be led by Paddy Morris, went so far as to openly attack the officials of the Gulf Maritime Federation, and defended the arch-reactionary Joseph P. Ryan in a thinly-disguised manner.

The coming convention of the Maritime Federation of the Pacific will be one of the most important labor conventions held in recent years. The federation has been successful in defeating every attack of the ship-owners. Plans must be laid at the convention for meeting the anticipated attack of the ship-owners together with their vigilantes and the reactionary union officials. There is grave danger that the carefully planned attack will come before the Convention.

It will be recalled that Paul Scharrenberg who is going to Washington to represent the I. S. U. of A., openly threatened vigilante terror against the rank and file West Coast unions. He spoke from the same platform as the top officials of the American Legion of California, and Major Henry F. Sanborn, editor of the openly fascist American Citizen, who is in close contact with the ship-owners. The pulling of the charter of the S. U. P. and locking out 20 longshore gangs is also very significant.

Lead Poisoning Is Hinted In Illness Of Union Official

RODEO, Calif., March 22.—The Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers' Union, Local 51 of Selby plans a full investigation into the illness of President Stevens, now in the hospital at Richmond.

Stevens and several others have become sick and union members are certain they are victims of lead-poisoning. The company doctor denied that this was true—hence the investigation.

All friends and union members are urged to visit Stevens at the Richmond Hospital.

VANDELEUR BACKS I.S.U. BUROCRATS

SAILORS' CHARTER FIGHT CARRIED TO COUNCIL FLOOR BY BRIDGES

Machinists' Scales

NATIONAL MOONEY FIGHT PUT UP TO GREEN BY COMMITTEE

(S. F. Central Labor Council Meeting)

The struggle in the San Francisco labor movement centering around the revocation of the Sailors' Union charter came to a head last Friday night in the stormiest session of the Central Labor Council in many months.

"No one is delegated to speak for the sailors except the sailors," Edward D. Vandeleur, president of the Council, declared, when Harry Bridges, president of I. L. A. 38-79 rose repeatedly to demand that the Council be informed as to what action the State Federation of Labor had taken or contemplated taking regarding aid to the sailors' union in regaining their charter. Vandeleur also refused to divulge whether the State Federation of Labor Executive Council, meeting Sunday, would act on the sailors' question.

VANDELEUR'S CONTEMPT Vandeleur's position, stated with cynical contempt for rank and file opinion, was that the question of the Sailors' Union was the private concern of the I. S. U. international officers, and the clique of reactionaries heading the State Federation of Labor.

Prolonged applause greeted Bridges' reply when, referring to the plans of I. S. U. officials to open a new hall and ship scabs, he told Vandeleur: "Then I'm talking for the longshoremen. We have to work with the sailors, and we're particular what kind we work with."

Bridges pointed out that the question of the Sailors' charter lay definitely within the jurisdiction of the State Federation of Labor, since the Oregon and Washington branches are still members of the State Federation. Vandeleur's concluding statement climaxed a bitter denunciation of the maritime rank and file. "I'm not so sure that you are all so desirous that we have a peaceful settlement on the waterfront," he declared.

MOONEY CAMPAIGN

The special committee recently set up by the Central Labor Council on the Mooney-Billings Defense, reported that a call had been sent out to the National Executive of the American Federation of Labor and William Green, president, asking that all its affiliated bodies throughout the country set aside July 22nd, the anniversary of the day on which Mooney first entered prison, as a day of mourning.

SILENCE SPAIN FASCIST RIOTS

Cooperation Between Communists and Socialists

MADRID, March 21.—Bloody struggles throughout Spain are decreasing in direct proportion to the silencing of fascist howls against the victory of the powerful People's Front in the recent elections.

Alonso Mallol, chief of police, last week called a conference of newspaper men and categorically denied that land-hungry peasants had seized the estates of President Zamora. This was seen by People's Front adherents as an effort to belittle the struggle of peasants for the land.

On the opening day of the Spanish Parliament session an attempt was made by reactionaries to assassinate Francisco Largo Caballero, Socialist leader. But Communists and Socialists presented a mighty united front as the parliament building shook to the strains of the "International."

The new parliament will be dominated by the People's Bloc which has a majority, consisting of 265 deputies. The Rightists and Centrists have 210 deputies.

Close cooperation exists between Caballero and Jose Diaz, Communist member of parliament.

Gulf Reactionary Is Shouted Down

At Port Arthur, Tex., Barnes, an international organizer of the I. S. U. of A. and one of the Olander-Scharrenberg clique, was booed out of the union hall when he attempted to prevent the unions from holding a joint meeting. A committee was elected to aid in the setting up of a maritime federation in the Gulf.

50 PERCENT RELIEF SLASH IS PLANNED

ROOSEVELT "HOPES" INDUSTRY MAY ABSORB UNEMPLOYED

Follow Hearst Lead 32,700 WORKERS JOINED JOBLESS ARMY IN JANUARY

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 23.—President Roosevelt, in a message to Congress late last week, asked for relief appropriations representing a 50 per cent slash from last year's relief budget.

Admitting there is little evidence industry can or will absorb large numbers of unemployed, he nevertheless asked for only $2,100,000 in new relief funds, compared to $4,880,000 appropriated in 1935. Of the new funds, $1,500,000 are for the Works Progress Administration and $600,000 for the Civilian Conservation Corps and various public works. To this the president added $1,000,000 of unexpended funds from last year's appropriation.

700,000 FACE LAYOFF Meanwhile plans are going ahead for the cutting of approximately 700,000 off WPA by July 1, and reducing the CCC quota by 80,000. Roosevelt estimated there are at present 5,300,000 families and unattached persons in need of relief. This compares with official American Federation of Labor estimates of 12,626,000 unemployed in January, 1936.

Roosevelt's action results from the demand of the Liberty League Hearst-Republican Party coalition that relief be slashed. To save face he "chided" the Tories for demanding complete abandonment of general relief.

His action was branded as "chiseling" by Representative Marcantonio who declared that "instead of the Hoover myth of two chickens in every pot, the unemployed are confronted with the Roosevelt reality of two wolves at every door."

While Roosevelt expressed "hope" that industry voluntarily would absorb a portion of those now without aid of any sort, Secretary of Labor Perkins announced that 32,700 more workers joined the unemployed ranks between January and February of this year.

RAP SOCIAL INSURANCE ALBANY, N. Y., March 23.—New York's state unemployment insurance act has been held unconstitutional in an opinion by Supreme Court Justice P. H. Ruskell.

He held that taking contributions from one employer to be paid in benefits to employees of another firm is in violation of the "due process" clause of the constitution.

Fascist War Alliance Sealed

CHINESE RED ARMY IN VICTORIOUS NEW ADVANCE

Hitler Thumbs Down On League of Nations

Red Army March Met By Cheers of People

BERLIN, March 23.—Hitler turned thumbs down on the proposals drafted at the League of Nations conferences in London relative to the Rhineland dispute and is reported at work drafting counter-proposals.

Although the League document, which included international policing of the Rhineland zone pending re-organization of all existing pacts and treaties, was described as an "ultimatum," its real nature was that of a "feeler" and it allows Germany full license to throw it in the waste paper basket and reopen discussions.

It is believed Germany will propose a toothless and sterile dummy device of pretended peace treaties which will serve to delude populations into a sense of false security, but which, in fact, will hamper in no way the war plans of belligerent nations.

ENDANGERING PEACE

In this project, Germany is alleged to have the cooperation of other League powers. It means the removal of guarantees provided for in the Locarno and Versailles treaties and substitution of insincere agreements.

The Soviet Union and France are the two powers struggling vigorously for the maintenance of existing treaties.

PEIPING, China, March 23.—The Red Army of Soviet China is reported in a victorious advance through Shansi province, moving westward. American missionaries are fleeing the area, but the charge that their lives are endangered is declared ridiculous.

The victory is described as one of "propaganda" rather than bayonets. Only small resistance has been encountered and the population of towns and cities are receiving the Red Army men with ovations of welcome. The Red Army in North China is regarded by the people as the one hope in their struggle for freedom from the yoke of Japanese imperialism.

AGAINST JAPAN

Shansi province borders on the Japanese controlled Hopei province where Japanese military forces have recently been doubled. Japanese authorities have stated that a march into Shansi to combat the Red China forces is imminent.

Observers believe that a major war, in which all Chinese patriotic forces will unite with the Communists to drive out the Japanese, may be looked for in the immediate future.

Litvinoff's Speech

The complete text of the speech by Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet delegate to the League of Nations on Tuesday, March 17, 1936, from which the following excerpts were taken was published in full in the Daily Worker on Thursday, March 19th.

"This is the third time in the short period of the eighteen months during which the Soviet Union has been a member of the League of Nations that its representative in the Council of the League has had to speak on the subject of a breach of international obligations. . . .

"In all three cases, the Soviet Union was either formally disinterested because it took no part in the treaties which have been infringed, as in the case of those of Versailles and Locarno, or, as in the case of the Italo-Ethiopian conflict, its own interests were not in the least affected.

PEACE POLICY

"The attitude of the Soviet Union is predetermined by its general policy of struggling for peace, for the collective organization of security and for maintenance of one of the instruments of peace—the existing League of Nations. . . . One cannot struggle for collective organization of security without adopting collective measures against breaches of international obligations.

"That the German assertion of the incompatibility of the Franco-Soviet pact and Locarno will not hold water follows with absolute clarity from the entirely defensive character of the pact.

"If Germany undertakes no aggression against either France or the Soviet Union the pact will not begin to operate. But if the Soviet Union becomes the victim of an attack by Germany, Locarno gives France, as any other member of the League, the unquestionable right to come to the assistance of the Soviet Union.

"This is perfectly obvious to the German Government too, and therefore it hastens to call to its (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

MASS MEETING TO FIGHT WAR CALLED IN S.F.

COMMUNIST SPEAKER WILL ADDRESS GATHERING

William Schneiderman, district organizer of the Communist Party, will speak on the war situation in Europe, at the invitation of the San Francisco Anti-War Committee, on Friday, March 27th, at 8 p. m., at the Irish-American Hall, 454 Valencia street, San Francisco.

After Schneiderman speaks, the floor will be thrown open for an open forum discussion and for questions. Com. Schneiderman will then sum up the discussion.

The significance of the Franco-Soviet Peace Pact, the road and objectives of Hitler, the position and policies of the Soviet Union and the general situation in Europe will be analyzed by Comrade Schneiderman in his opening speech. The relation of this situation to the position of the American working class and what American workers can do to protect their interests will be outlined by him.

Lawrence Ross, S. F. section organizer of the Communist Party, will preside. Admission will be 10 cents.

All workers, especially trade unionists, are urged by the S. F. Anti-War Committee to attend this mass meeting.

Dummy Parliament Is Dissolved By Mussolini

New Agreement Links Austria, Hungary To Fascists

ROME, Italy, March 23.—Mussolini has dissolved the assembly of appointed "Yes-men" which comprised Italy's artificial parliament and has placed the nation under open control of the 22 capitalist corporations which constitute the nation's "big business."

Almost simultaneously it was reported that an alliance has been achieved between Italy, Austria and Hungary.

Terroristic bombings in Ethiopia have been carried out on an unprecedented scale as the fascists strain for the utmost advantage in their coming peace negotiations before the League of Nations. It is alleged Mussolini will revive the Hoare-Laval proposition as a basis for bargaining.

FASCIST ALLIANCE

The Italy-Austria-Hungary agreements are a step toward war as significant as Hitler's march into the Rhine. It ties up with the recently established accord between Germany and Italy, the alliance between Germany and Poland and the well-known understanding between Japan and Germany. It achieves the complete co-ordination of the fascist war machine which is mobilizing for aggression against France and the Soviet Union.

REVOLT FEARED

Placing of Italy's direct control in the hands of a council of capitalists is an emergency measure to combat the mass unrest and growing revolt within Italy. In the face of Mussolini's growing unpopularity, it may foreshadow his downfall and the ruling of the nation directly by the capitalist interests which have always controlled Mussolini as a puppet.

PROTEST ARREST OF BRAZIL HERO

Delegation Demands Investigation of Barron Murder

WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 22.—That Carlos Prestes is the idol of Brazil was admitted by a member of the staff of the Brazilian embassy here.

Paulo G. Hasselocher, commercial attache, added that the new treaty between Brazil and the United States "is more favorable to the industrialists of the United States than it is to Brazil."

These things were admitted to a delegation of distinguished Americans calling at the Embassy late last week to protest the arrest and contemplated murder of Prestes, heroic Communist leader of Brazil who has been held for weeks by the Vargas-Wall Street government.

The delegation demanded the release of Prestes, Arthur Ewart, refugee from Hitler, and general amnesty for all political prisoners in Brazil. Previously the delegation had visited the State Department with the demand for a thorough investigation into the murder of a young American, Victor Barron, by Brazilian police.

CARDENAS GIVES STERN ANSWER TO MEXICAN OWNER CLASS

Replies to Dark Threats Against His Government

"STRIKES FAVORABLE TO SOCIAL INTERESTS OF MEXICO"

(Special to Western Worker)
MEXICO CITY.—In a radio broadcast on March 14th, President Lazaro Cardenas gave his answer to an open letter addressed to him by the bankers, industrialists and business men of Mexico. This letter, sent out by the boss-clique on March 11, amounted to almost an ultimatum, calling upon President Cardenas to put a stop to the strikes in the country, condemning him for his actions in behalf of the strikers and against the industrialists of Monterrey, attempting to prove that these and all other strikes were communistic and would result in reducing the country to anarchy. The letter threatened in none too vague terms that unless Cardenas "played ball" from now on, bank credits would be refused him and industries and businesses would shut down.

BLAME OWNER-CLASS
President Cardenas started his speech by showing that the government, for the first time in history, is pursuing a definite clear and legal course of reform. He blamed the owner-class for fighting these reforms, for refusing cooperation, for raising the prices of necessities; "Up to today the government has had no cooperation from industries, banks or business houses, in spite of the promises you have given."

"In regard to strikes President Cardenas said: 'It is true that agitations and strikes are troublesome and occasion alarm in the country; but you can't expect the government to stop these when we haven't sufficient proof that the owner-class will respect the law.'"

"Strikes, if they keep within the law, if they make demands which are within the financial capacity of the industries to grant, are favorable to the social interest because they help to solve the gravest of Mexico's problems; the misery of the working class."

BOYCOTT THREAT
In answer to the threat of a boycott of his government by big business of Mexico, after emphasizing the fact that business is concerned with marketing and not with production, Cardenas declared:

"If banks and industries exist it is because the market is such that they can make money. A shut-down, a boycott on the part of the owning-class, whatever might be its magnitude, would demand intervention by the government in order that the economic life might not be disturbed. And the most that would happen would be that certain branches of industry and finance would be removed from private interests to be converted into social services."

SOVIET CONSTRUCTION BREAKS ALL RECORDS

This year's program of new construction in the Soviet Union totals 32,400 million rubles. The scope of these plans becomes apparent when one considers that such items as 330 new apartment houses in Moscow, and 4,300 schools in cities and villages all over the country, are but part of the projects scheduled for completion before the end of the year.

MOTHERS TO PROTEST R.O.T.C. BEFORE STATE REGENT BOARD

LOS ANGELES, March 3.—A delegation of Los Angeles mothers are on their way to San Francisco to appear before the Board of Regents to protest compulsory R. O. C. T. military training.

The State Board of Regents will convene in San Francisco on Tuesday, March 24th. At this time, they will decide whether R. O. T. C. military training shall continue to be compulsory or whether such training shall be subject to the option of each student enrolled in the universities of California.

Mothers of students at U. C. L. A. and other Los Angeles schools have organized to make R. O. T. C. training elective. In a very limited time, over 3000 signatures protesting against compulsory military training have been

BADLY NEEDED FUNCTIONARIES TO BE TRAINED

LOS ANGELES TO BEGIN DRIVE FOR $1500 SCHOOL FUND

LOS ANGELES, March 22.—To cope adequately with impending great struggles of the workers, farmers, and middle class of Southern California, the Los Angeles Section of the Communist Party will take decisive steps to develop trained revolutionary forces with the establishment of a three-weeks' full-time school here in May.

A financial drive to raise $1500 has been launched. Five hundred dollars of the $1500 is to go for the maintenance of a full-time District School.

"Our best resolutions will remain on paper, if we lack the people who are to put them into effect."

This statement by George Dimitroff at the Seventh World Congress of the Communist International, is being raised here as a central point in the leading of successful struggles for the exploited masses.

The Los Angeles Section further plans to carry through two other such schools during 1936. Through this inner education of Communist Party members, the Los Angeles Section plans to raise the effectiveness of the struggle against war and fascism, and for the creation of a broad people's front against reaction.

CHAIN STORES PROFITEERING IN FLOOD AREA

CONGRESSMAN IN DEMAND FOR $50,000,000 RELIEF FUND

PITTSBURGH, Pa., March 23.—In the wake of the devastating flood that has taken the lives of hundreds of persons and left thousands of workers and their families homeless, chain stores here raised food prices from 50 to 100 per cent in order to profit by the scarcity of certain articles.

While more than 200,000 persons are estimated to have lost their homes and all belongings, the death toll continued to mount. Thousands were unaccounted for.

One chain store boosted the price of potatoes from 50 cents to $1 a peck. Meanwhile men, women and children are shouting for food. Thousands of steel mill workers were thrown out of work as water flooded shops and factories.

A miniature Daily Worker issued by the Communist Party here, in the absence of the regular Daily Worker bundle, presents a demand that all food and relief be placed for distribution in the hands of a People's Relief Committee.

Troops were on duty over a wide area and doctors' services were increasingly demanded as disease and epidemic followed the flood.

DEMANDS RELIEF

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 23.—Representative Henry Ellenbogen, Democrat from Pennsylvania, introduced a bill Thursday for an emergency appropriation of $50,000,000 for flood relief throughout the stricken area.

ALEXANDER Hamilton Is the REAL VILLAIN

SAN DIEGO, Calif., March 18.—In a meeting characterized by anti-Semitic remarks and general confusion, the San Diego chapter of the National Union for Social Justice was inaugurated. The Los Angeles organizer first spoke of membership in the hundred thousands in Southern California alone. He addressed a small crowd at the local Unitarian Church.

The main speaker began with a build-up for Coughlin as the savior of the country. Then he launched into a recital of the hardships of the depression, etc. Then he came around to the cause of it all. The capitalists? No. The bankers? No. The money! That is the whole trouble, the small amount of money in circulation. He punctuated this speech with anti-Semitic aspersions. The founder of this evil financial system, he said, was Alexander Hamilton, whose real name was Levy. "We must work for a real Christian world," he concluded.

During the brief question period following the speech, an alert listener asked if it were not, perhaps, the capitalist system that was at fault. After hemming and hawing, the speaker declined to answer, claiming lack of time.

SAN FRANCISCO CENTRAL LABOR COUNCIL MEET

National Tom Mooney Day, and plan to hold mass meetings and demonstrations demanding freedom for Mooney and Billings on that date.

The committee also announced that May 15th had been decided on as the date for a large preliminary mass meeting to be held for the same purpose in San Francisco.

KIDWELL'S REPORT

George Kidwell, secretary of the Bakery Wagon Drivers' Union reported that the Lancendoff Baking Company was leading a drive against the wages and conditions won by the union throughout the San Francisco area. Lancendoff and other companies are employing the nucleus of a strikebreaking group, he said, and have made attempts to corrupt leading members of the organization, promising to reward them if they oppose the policies of the union. The developing attack, Kidwell stated, constituted a serious threat to the Bakery Wagon Drivers' Union in San Francisco and the adjacent area.

"ALASKA PACKING" SIGNS

Agreements with four of the Alaska packing companies have been signed by the Masters, Mates and Pilots, according to the report of their delegate to the Council. The scale is $190 as against $135 for 1934, the 8-hour day, and $1.00 a hour overtime. This is the first time that these companies have signed with the Masters, Mates and Pilots, the delegate stated.

The machinists reported that under the shipyard strike settlement machinists are to receive 90c an hour, and helpers 65c, the 40-hour week, union recognition and no discrimination. However, on the two destroyers on which work is soon scheduled to begin, the rate will be 85c for machinists and 60c for helpers.

Vandeur refused the repeated request made by the delegate of the Filling Station Employees' Union to get the floor on the action taken by the former in advising the Rubber Institute to halt negotiations with the union.

Ministers Oppose Compulsory R.O.T.C.

LOS ANGELES, March 17.—Members of the Methodist Preachers' Association today had sent the University of California's Board of Regents a resolution demanding the abolition of compulsory military training.

The ministers pointed out that students at Berkeley and Los Angeles had voted two to one against compulsory training, and expressed themselves as "favoring the creation of a psychology of peace instead of a sympathy toward war and war methods."

RYAN HINTS AT REVOCATION OF GULF CHARTERS

COMMUNICATION TO MEET OPPOSES MARITIME FEDERATION

NEW ORLEANS, March 18.—Foundations for a Maritime Federation to embrace the 10,000 marine workers in the Gulf were being laid at the Maritime Convention here. The proposed Federation would be similar to the highly successful Maritime Federation of the Pacific and a great step toward industrial unionism.

Joseph P. Ryan, president of the International Longshoremen's Association, sent a communication to all the I. L. A. locals of the Gulf and South Atlantic ports stating that, "The Maritime Federation of the Pacific Coast endeavored to usurp the powers of your association." He then warned them, "not to repeat the mistakes by joining a Federation that is opposed to your International organization; otherwise action will be taken against you in accordance with Sec. 2 of our International Constitution." This section has to do with revocation of charters.

"ONLY SALVATION"

Speakers at the convention pointed out that building trades councils of the A. F. of L. have been formed along the same lines as the proposed Federation for many years. And that craft unions in these councils do not lose their identity but merely meet together with the other crafts in the same industry to discuss and act on their common problems.

One of the principal speakers, Mr. Stein, reviewed 12 years of strife on the New Orleans docks and stated that, "The Maritime Federation is our only salvation." He denounced Joseph P. Ryan for threatening charter revocations of the locals that joined the Federation.

One of the high-lights of Stein's speech was, "We are defending ourselves against a bunch of officials who have sold us out. We are not condemning the I. L. A., but are condemning one man, Joseph P. Ryan. We want to belong to the American Federation of Labor, but we are fighting against the man who draws $15,000 a year and who has sold us out."

Stein was referring to the actions of Ryan during the Gulf strike. He stressed the point that during the strike all the districts of the union in the United States and Canada had voted a manifesto against all scab-loaded ships coming from the Gulf and that Ryan had wired President Roosevelt that unless the I. L. A. locals in the Gulf were recognized, "every port in the United States would be closed." The manifesto was ignored at Ryan's order, even in New York where he maintains his office. Stein said that if Ryan had put the manifesto into effect, "the strike would not still be in effect, but would have been over in three weeks."

TREACHERY

Dumped by Assistant Secretary of Labor Edward McGrady, longshoremen signed agreements with three companies in the belief that other companies would sign afterward. This was done to quiet the howls of the shipowners that a food shortage threatened. Stein asked the members not to blame himself or T. J. Darcy, president of the local, for signing the contracts, but to blame themselves for voting for them.

A great future was forecast for the Gulf Maritime Federation and predictions made of similar Federations in the East and North to be combined into a national maritime federation.

Other speakers at the convention were Norman Duncan, International Seamen's Union; T. K. Inge, Masters, Mates, and Pilots; S. Nathaniel Smith, Negro local, No. 231, I. L. A. of New Orleans; and Edward Norris, I. L. A. of West Bank. Captain S. L. Forrest, of the A. R. T. A., presided.

Prof. Steinmetz Honored by Teachers

SAN DIEGO, Calif., March 18.—Harry Steinmetz, elected president of the San Diego Federated Trades and Labor Council who was "deposed" by "Little Hitler" Casey, was recently elected vice president of the State Federation of Teachers.

"EXPULSION OF THE PERNICIOUS FOREIGN BOSSES"

Head of the caravan of 600 striking Guanajuato miners who marched from the State of Guanajuato to Mexico City to protest to the Cardenas government the activities of the American mine owners. The sign reads: "Out of the Country with the Pernicious Foreigners Henry P. Smith and Augustus MacDonald!" One of their demands was that "the company observe the 'law of the seventh day,'" a law obliging all employers to give their workers a day of rest, with pay, on the seventh day of the week. This piece of legislation, introduced by President Cardenas early this year, was declared constitutional by the Mexican legislature on February 20th. Many employers, including the owners of the Guanajuato silver mines, have refused to conform to it.

News Guild Wins Point in Battle With Associated

LIBERTY LEAGUER FIGHTS NATIONAL LABOR BOARD PROBE

NEW YORK (FP).—The American Newspaper Guild drew first blood in its long drawn out battle with the powerful forces of the Associated Press when Federal Judge William Bondy of New York refused to stop the National Labor Relations Board from investigating the dismissal of Morris Watson.

Watson, vice-president of the guild and considered one of the city's best newspapermen, was fired from his job last autumn ostensibly because he had not been "happy there." Guildsmen charged that the press association's action was a case of pure anti-union discrimination and placed their claims before the N. L. R. B. Morris Ernst, guild counsel, had characterized the case as the most important since the passage of the Wagner labor disputes act.

Pleas of John W. Davis, Liberty Leaguer and attorney for AP, that the Wagner act was "wholly unconstitutional" and that "irreparable damage" would be done to his clients by N. L. R. B. hearings, were denied by Bondy. At the same time he refused to enjoin the board from conducting elections among AP employees to determine their bargaining agent.

"No poll to determine representatives of complainant's employees for collective bargaining becomes injurious to the employer merely because it is conducted by a government board instead of by employees themselves," he declared.

Labor board hearings are scheduled to start in the near future. Millions of American newspaper readers will await with interest its anti-labor stand with its alleged "impartial handling" of the manner in which the country's largest news agency, in covering this important labor story, adjusts events.

Building Service Workers Restrike Action Is Hinted

NEW YORK, N. Y., Mar. 32.—Sentiment for a restrike is growing within the ranks of the building service workers here.

Meanwhile reality owners appeared to be yielding to the demands of the workers for reinstatement of all former strikers. More than 3,000 had been discriminated against by employers, it was estimated by members of the Building Service Workers union.

Pressure from the rank and file of the union is becoming stronger under the compromising strategy of James J. Bambrick, president of the union who, it is that, until quite lately, Hitler combatted most categorically the idea of collective security. He still preaches the principle of inequality, not only of races but of nations. He points without ambiguity to those lands which must be taken by violence from other peoples to be colonized by Germans. We know that as comparatively recently as May 28, 1931, one of Hitler's principle counselors, Goebbels, wrote in the newspaper Angriff that "the only instrument with which foreign policy can be made is the sword," and Hitler himself wrote in the Voelkischer Beobachter that "in the long run the sword will decide everything."

"I have permitted myself to express my views, gentlemen, with complete frankness. It was easier for me to do so than for my colleagues, because the manner in which Hitler allows himself to speak in public of the State I represent liberates me from the necessity of resorting to circumlocution and diplomatic niceties."

ANTI-SOVIET FRONT

I have all the more right to do so because the whole sense of Hitler's statements and proposals in the sphere of international political relations amounts to organization of a campaign against the peoples of the State I represent and to the formation of a coalition against them of the whole of Europe and the whole world.

"But at whatever new international agreements we might desire to arrive, we must first of all insure their loyal fulfillment by all those who participate in them, and the Council of the League must declare its attitude toward unilateral infringement of such agreements and how it intends and is able to react against them."

"From this standpoint the greatest possible satisfaction of the complaint made by the French and Belgian Governments becomes of exceptional importance. Taking cognizance of this, I declare in the name of my government its readiness to participate in all measures which may be proposed to the Council of the League by the Locarno powers and will be acceptable to other members of the Council."

San Diego Union Progressives to Broaden Struggle

SAN DIEGO, Calif., March 18.—The 9th progressive caucus of the Federated Trades Council, with 62 delegates representing 27 unions, present, met here tonight laying plans to carry the fight against the Casey dictatorship to the public. John Lydick, chairman of the progressive caucus, brought the proposal to the floor. A. C. Rogers, William Coffey of the Laborers, Radcliff of the Electricians and Harry Steinmetz followed Lydick in support of the move to widen the fight. Steinmetz pointed out that Casey had already gone to the most reactionary anti-labor forces to win support for his actions and that "we must enlist in turn the support of the progressive public."

Lydick's proposal for the investigation by a local public committee finally carried when the motion was put by Coffey.

Attorney Baird, a member of the Office Workers' Union, whose charter has just been revoked for "insubordination," reported that he had notified Casey's attorneys that the progressives will not agree to any continuation of the injunction hearing, but that the earliest the trial can be held is April 2.

In the meanwhile Casey's trial on assault charges is set for Mar. 26th, at 10 a. m. in police court.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—The Senate today passed the record $611,000,000 War Department appropriation, calling for tremendous increases in war preparations measures and the number of the standing army.

CIVIL SERVICE SUSPENDED IN SOUTH PASADENA FOR BANNING

By a Worker Correspondent.
SOUTH PASADENA, Calif.—Tammany Jim Farley has taken it upon himself to repudiate the Civil Service Commission. The tenuous coils of patronage by which the wily postmaster general builds up his political machine extend even to the little hamlet of South Pasadena. At the behest of his man Friday, W. G. McAdoo, Farley has appointed a certain Mr. Banning to the job as postmaster in this town.

Just how flagrant is this act can be seen in the absolute lack of qualification of Banning for the position. In the first place, he was not even a resident of the town at the time of his appointment. Secondly, eighteen local residents had already qualified for the job by passing three Civil Service examinations. For Banning's benefit, a fourth examination was given. He failed this ignominiously. Not only that, but Banning lacks the three years' executive experience necessary for the position. While in office as

Mexican Miners Win Fight With American Owners

GUANAJUOTA STRIKERS' DEMANDS UPHELD BY ARBITRATOR

(Special to Western Worker)

MEXICO CITY. (Delayed).—The Mexican miners, employed by the American-owned Guanajuato Reduction Company, who came on foot 265 miles from the State of Guanajuato to Mexico City to protest actions of their American bosses, Smith and MacDonald, who refused to arbitrate a four-month-old strike, have just won an important victory.

As previously reported, the Labor Department forced the American management to accept arbitration. The government-appointed arbitrator has just announced his decision: that work shall be resumed in not less than eight days' time; that the company pay the workers the sum of 50,000 pesos (about $14,000) to cover wages lost during the strike; that the company re-hire in the same positions all the workers who went out on strike; that the Company pay wages for a rest day on the 7th day of each week as well as on the other days (one of the demands of the striking miners). In direct refutation of the loud squawks made by MacDonald and Smith that the company was on the verge of bankruptcy because of the fall of the price of silver, the arbitrator announced upon investigation that the Guanajuato Reduction Company was "in good financial condition."

Communists Defy Austrian Court In Treason Trial

VIENNA, Mar. 21.—The two Communists on trial here for "treason" to the Stieremberg-Schuschneid fascist government defended the Communist Party and the working class before the fascist court.

Fuenberg, one of the accused, declared in answer to the charge of conspiring to overthrow the present regime: "Neither inside nor outside the Fatherland Front (fascist trade union organization) is there a possibility of changing the present shameful situation in Austria. Therefore, illegal organizations are needed."

The other Communist defendant, Honner, explained the role of the Communist Party in building the United Front.

Twenty-eight Revolutionary Socialists on trial defended themselves with equal bravery earlier in the trial.

POLISH STRIKERS

CRACOW, Poland, March 23.—

Five workers were killed and thirty wounded by police gunfire during a demonstration following declaration of a 24-hour strike. Other unions immediately called a general strike in protest.

Clashes are frequent as strikes mount in number throughout Poland, where the standard of living of the workers has dropped enormously.

A "Rural Peasantry" for California

THE GOVERNMENT PLAN FOR SOLVING PROBLEMS OF GROWERS

Growers Are Dubious Prefer Rule By Vigilantes

INTRODUCTION
The first part of this article (published in last issue) described the monopoly control of Big Business over California agriculture and the existence of an army of 200,000 agricultural slaves who do the work. To meet the crisis arising from this situation, the government proposes to create a "rural peasantry" in which families will grow just enough to keep themselves alive during the periods when the Big Interests do not need them to work in the harvests.

"RESETTLEMENT"

The scheme is to give California a bound-to-be-soil peasantry, by the simple device of part-time farms. That this peasant creating program is contrary to the movement of history is no great concern for the government. The reasoning runs like this: California has a third of all large-scale farming in the United States. Large-scale farming requires the use of many hands. At present the hired hands are a proletariat and unpredictable lot, germinating in their miserable conditions the seeds of revolt, liable to explode and threaten the stability of the nation. Therefore it is necessary to recreate for these hired hands the illusion of the status of petty bourgeoisie. We will place a sufficient number on small plots of land, carefully calculated to produce an insufficiency of the substance of life; thus forcing the able bodied to add to their income by working for wages in the fields of their corporate neighbors.

ANCIENT DENMARK

Although Dr. Carl C. Taylor, national director of Resettlement Administration, is the chief exponent of this skillful reasoning, he has taken his cue from Rex Tugwell, who, in turn, has followed a well defined precedent. In the early 18th century Denmark embarked upon just such a scheme. At the present time in Denmark the policy toward small farmers requires "the limitation of the holdings to such a size as would still compel the holders to work as hired men."

Such is the hope and desire of Resettlement Administration in California, where agriculture is the one great intensified industry, overshadowing every department of state life.

SLAVE CAMPS

The first step in the program called for the establishment of migrant camps, where the contents could be sifted and the "better elements" planted in perpetuity on part-time farms. Two camps were built last year. Grower opposition developed instantly. "Shall we stop the government in its plan to establish migrant camps?" debated the growers at their first "housing" conference, Dec. 15, 1934. The answer was "yes," but with qualifications. The qualifications were that the growers wanted absolute control of the management in their own hands, "permitting," as they put it, "the sheriff to enter at any time."

MAY ABANDON

So bitter has become the opposition that Resettlement Administration may abandon the whole migrant camp project, although Federal money is available for the establishment of 20 more such camps. This will not, however, alter the long-range plan for creating a California peasantry on part-time farms.

The growers never wanted the camps. The growers want their hired hands to be available, docile, unorganized and under their thumbs. Privileges guaranteed by the Constitution were to be permitted in the migrant camps. The right of workers to organize, to collectively bargain, the right of permanent residence, the comforts of sanitary camping conditions—these were offered, and are available for migrants, one near Marysville and the other at Arvin in the lower San Joaquin.

VIGILANTES

Even more distasteful to the growers was the government rule that, "efforts to enforce the law by vigilante methods cannot be permitted."

Meanwhile the growers have found a friend in WPA. The peasant idea was all right, they agreed, as a long-view procedure. It had their best interests at heart. Go ahead, they said, but remember we're short-view fellows. We want benefits here and now.

Through a deal with WPA the growers have assured themselves of immediate benefit. The deal provides:

1. Registration and possible finger-printing of all farm labor.
2. Scaling down of relief benefits to the level of farm wages. Different relief standards for different national groups to correspond with wages paid on farms.
3. Immediate stoppage of relief when workers are needed on farms. Relief agencies to keep accurate data on all present and future farm needs, and relief office to be dispatching help.

General plans were worked out by Frank McLaughlin, state relief administrator for California, with his assistant, Charles Schottland.

HEALTH BUDGET SHY

SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 21.—Approximately $300,000 more is needed to bring the city's health budget up to minimum standard, $533,331 or about 80 cents per year. San Francisco now spends $533,331 or about 80 cents per capita for preventative health.

Progressives Slated To Win in Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (EP).—Socialist Mayor Daniel W. Hoan of Milwaukee, in office for 20 years, seemed headed for another 4-year term when he emerged from city non-partisan primary balloting with a lead of at least 4,000 votes over Sheriff Joseph J. Shimmers. Run-off elections will be held April 7.

Hoan and other progressive candidates for office, including Socialist City Attorney Max Raskin, had the endorsement of the new Farmer-Labor-Progressive Federal coalition of radical and liberal groups organized under the auspices of the Wisconsin Federation of Labor.

BOSTON, (EP).—Following

similar action in recent years, the Massachusetts legislature has refused to ratify the child labor amendment to the United States Constitution. Thousands of children are employed, at pitifully low wages, in factories throughout New England.

PHILIPPINES GET INDEPENDENCE IN A PIG'S EYE WITH THE U.S.A. ON TOP

By Scott Nearing,
Federated Press.

With eleven major exceptions, and some others that might be mentioned, the Philippines are now independent of the United States government. They are free—about as free, in fact, to go their own way as an American worker is to find a job in a country with 10,000,000 unemployed.

Many good words are being spoken and written about American generosity in giving the people of the Philippines an opportunity to try self-government. But a little study of the new Philippine constitution shows that signs of real independence are no more plentiful than hen's teeth:

1. The sovereignty of the Philippines shall owe allegiance to the United States.
2. English is continued in the public schools of the Philippines despite the fact that the vast majority of the people speak their own languages.
3. The size of the public debt of the Philippines is to be determined by the Congress at Washington.
4. No foreign loans may be contracted without the approval of the president of the United States.
5. Foreign affairs are under the control of the United States.
6. The United States government may expropriate property in the Philippines for public use, may maintain military reservations, and may call into service the military forces of the Philippines.
7. Decisions of Philippine courts are subject to review by the U. S. Supreme Court.
8. Amendments to the Philippine constitution must be submitted to the president of the United States for his approval.
9. The president of the United States may suspend any law, contract or executive order of the government of the Philippines.
10. The president of the United States may intervene in the Philippines for the preservation of the government of the Philippines, for the support of its constitution, for the protection of "life, property and

Revolt Brews In the Heart of a Sold Out Country

By Harold Coy.

NEW YORK (EP).—The three years since Fascism came to power in Germany, promising the German people "national socialism" and "the complete triumph of labor," are subject of an impressive analysis issued in Amsterdam, Holland by the International Transport Workers Federation under the title, German Working Class: Three Years Under the Swastika.

Instead of the things they were promised, the German people got the complete triumph of big industrialists and bankers; the destruction of trade unions, cooperatives and mutual aid societies; severe wage cuts in the face of rising profits; a housing shortage for the masses in the face of huge palaces for Nazi chiefs; substitutes for food, meat and butter; forced labor schemes and intensified goose-stepping; the ruination of agricultural workers and small farmers; curtailment of sick and unemployment insurance; abolition of free speech and press; and a mushroom growth of poison gas factories and armament plants foreshadowing a bigger and bloodier war.

A WARNING

That is what Fascism means, and that is a sample of what it will bring to every people who fail to struggle against it or who are tricked into accepting it under one label or another, this well-documented report from the world headquarters of the organized transport workers warns.

In Germany in 1932 the unions had to decide whether or not to engage in open struggle for their existence," the report recalls. "They hesitated and yielded, in the hope some miracle would save them. Their yielding proved fatal."

The betrayal of the middle classes by the Nazis was the most flagrant of all, since they especially had reposed hope in the Hitler regime. The report tells how the government has tried to check discontent over rising prices at the expense of the small storekeeper. Maximum retail prices have been set, but wholesale prices go up so rapidly that they are sometimes higher than prescribed retail prices. Bankruptcy and suicide are proving the only way out for growing numbers of retailers. "Tradesmen were thrown into concentration camps because they refused to sell at a loss. . . to ease the situation the government ordered the destruction of the cooperative societies."

THE FUTURE

What lies ahead of the German people? To become the work animals of a Japan-in-Europe, subsisting on "scientific" low-cost fodder, making cheap goods to flood world markets, and being themselves fodder for a war machine of conquest—such is the present plan of influential Nazi leaders. This is most frankly set forth in quotations from The Struggle for International Trade, by Albrecht Forstmann, Nazi economist close to Minister of Propaganda and Public Enlightenment Goebbels.

Against such plans for the degradation of the German nation, the report cites symptoms of growing popular discontent. Here and there trade unions are being illegally formed and linked up; spontaneous resistance to wage cuts and overwork is even more frequent. Concerted slowing down on the job, refusal to make "voluntary" contributions to Nazi collections, boycott of fake works council (company union) elections, and even occasional strikes are reported.

In many cases, leaders are jailed and ruthlessly punished. In others, the Nazis have felt sufficiently insecure to make concessions, only adding the warning that the victory must not be talked about outside the shop. These first faint stirrings of renewed resistance make it increasingly clear that Germany's future will emerge out of struggle.

THE RED HERRING ENTERS THE PENITENTIARY

Cells Raided—Literature Seized—Rush Griffin Hung—C.S. Prisoners Feared— Fascism Rules in the Growler

INTRODUCTION
This is the sixth of a series of articles written exclusively for the Western Worker by a man just released from San Quentin penitentiary. Each article is complete in itself.

BUSY BULLS IN APRIL

During the first week of April, 1935, a Hearst-inspired red scare was spreading up and down the Coast. There had been a general strike of far-reaching significance which had not only showed the shipowners and other capitalists the strength, determination and solidarity of the laboring masses, but had shown many working class organizations the importance of the United Front in struggles with the fascists. It was only natural that this red scare would spread to the prisons. From high up had come the word to the prison to watch all "reds" or those having affiliations with "reds."

But the prison had already issued orders that four major tasks needed to be done during the first week of April. These were, first: raid the cells and search the persons of all convicts serving time for labor activities and any of their sympathizers; second: get Rush Griffin ready to be hung; third: have Joe Kristy and Alex McKay taken to the Superior Court of San Rafael and tried for attempting to escape and kidnapping the prison board; fourth: watch closely a group of five men coming to prison from Sacramento who have been convicted of Criminal Syndicalism, for—THEY ARE ALL COMMUNISTS! This last was VERY important.

M'NAMARA

The terror began to crack down with the first raid. That was on the cell of James B. McNamee. Here it might be well to mention just a few of the books taken from his cell alone. The red squad making the raid found so much they were forced to press into service two convicts and a wheelbarrow. Among the books were: Capital by Karl Marx (sent to Jim in 1912).

Second Vol. of Autobiography of Lincoln Steffens.

Coming Struggle for Power, by John Strachey.

My Own Story, by Freemont Older.

A book on Astronomy.

An Atlas of the World (published in 1914).

Book by John D. Rockefeller, Jr. (on the "wonders" of capitalism).

Another by Filene, the Boston merchant.

Magazines: Harpers, Asia, New Republic, Nation, Current History, New Masses, The Masses (before it became New Masses), Labor Defender, and many others.

PLAIN ROBBERY

Papers, clippings, letters, photographs (one of Jim's mother), an old rug off the concrete floor (Jim had owned for 10 years), a pair of prison-made felt slippers, etc.

Letters and clippings which the red squad did not think necessary to carry away were ruthlessly torn up and thrown on the cell floor. The mattress was slit open, ditto the pillow, everything in the cell, small as it was, looked as though someone had gone to considerable trouble to "mess things up." Jimmy actually laughed at the books which the red squad had selected as "red" literature. But he also knew that he had been the victim of foul and vindictive treatment. His cellmate, another prisoner convicted for labor activities, blinked his one good eye and contented himself with a steady flow of cuss-words.

By now everyone knew about this raid. Later, when friends and comrades of Jim McNamee began to blazon the affair in the press, Jim was found to be too important for San Quentin. So they shipped him to Folsom.

ORDER RAIDS

But there were other raids, other cells and many more books to pick up. Bear in mind that all these books had come in from the publishers and had passed the regular prison censorship. Why then, were the raids made? We could state that the prison had the "red jitters," which would be true. More, we could maintain the guards were making the prison "safe" for the incoming Sacramento defendants, which again would be factual. But if these raids were made at this time they were such books picked up that had already gone through the prison censorship, instead of being stopped before they entered the prison? The prison officials have no answer for this one. But there is an answer. It was a part of the backwash of fascist terror which had been intended for the whole state, but had, unfortunately, been confined to the prison where it could be practiced upon defenseless convicts who could not protect themselves.

Many convicts who spoke to class-war prisoners in the prison yard found their cells had been thoroughly "messed up" and that several books having nothing at all to do with the class struggle had disappeared. Nor was this all. When convicts went to ask for their books they were roughly told: "Don't know anything about them?"

Letters to various prison officials were unanswered and visitors who asked many convicts "what the hell was ailing them," were told, "the roof is going to blow off this joint any minute."

NO EXPLOSION

But—the roof stayed on, the provocative measures used against the convicts failed to produce the "trouble" expected. The extra shells which the guards carried in their belts during this period were never used. But they had to carry them, nonetheless. And they were sore.

There are many stories concerning the hanging of Rush Griffin. A clerk in a county office "rode the rap" for allowing an appeal notice to remain in his office. But there are many who are absolutely certain that this appeal notice was inside the prison at the time the hanging took place. Moreover, the Negro preach-

CHAUVINISM

Chauvinism, that "ace-in-the-hole" of all fascists has been practiced in the prison for many years. The solidarity of the Negroes in the prison is fairly good. Many, of course, have developed themselves to race-consciousness, but there are quite a few who realize the importance of class-consciousness and these are witnessing daily the development of conditions that will soon place them in the same category as the Jews are in Fascist Germany.

But all the guards were busy. Some had to raid cells, others had Griffin to kill off, still others went through the farce of dressing up Kristy and McKay each day and taking them to court. Kristy and McKay knew they had no chance. What? Kidnap the entire prison board, try to escape from such a good "home" as San Quentin and not expect to get topped (hung)? Whenever a worker is kidnaped it isn't news, but kidnap a big-shot, use a board member as a shield and it's not only news, but it means your life. So there is little chance of Kristy and McKay staying on this earth much longer. Their trial, like that of Bageley and McNabb, and hundreds of others who were tried in that same court room, was a farce from beginning to its still dizzier wind-up.

Party Life

DISTRICT ORGANIZATIONAL DEPARTMENT

In order to help form a uniform dues-paying system in the units, sub-sections, sections, and the district, the following decisions have been made by the District Org. Department:

1. Only one week's supply of stamps may be ordered each week by the units, sub-sections and sections, and this order must be made out on the basis of the number of members in each of these bodies. No longer will they be allowed to buy stamps for two or three weeks in advance.

2. Dues orders are to be in the District office not later than Wednesday of each week. This means that dues orders must be mailed from the sections no later than Monday of each week.

3. The District Org. Dept. will count the membership in each section only on the basis of the number of members paying dues weekly. On the basis of the number of members registered in each section, plus the recruiting for the months of January and February, and our possibilities for further recruiting, the dues payment quotas listed above have been assigned to each section to be achieved by May. The District Org. Dept. considers the establishment of a 100 per cent dues-paying system in each section, and the achievement of the above quota of 3100 by May, as one of the main political tasks of the Party in our District. The section, sub-section, committees and unit bureaus must also consider it as such, and concentrate not only on how many members can be recruited, which is important, but how to give proper leadership to, activate and keep the new as well as the old members, in the Party.

S.F. SIDEWALK LAW VERY WELL ENFORCED, AT LEAST ONE TIME

SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 23.—"in" by a nearby merchant. Every sidewalk newstand in this city is illegal!

But San Francisco police do nothing about it—unless a newsboy handling the Western Worker, the Daily Worker, the New Masses and other literature of the same nature attempts to establish a stand of his own.

This was learned here last week when a Western Worker salesman, after being driven off the street at Mission and Fourth by a uniformed policeman, applied at the City Hall for a permit to establish a sidewalk newstand.

NOTHING DOING

He was told there is an ordinance prohibiting sidewalk stands and that no permits could be issued for them. In addition, he learned, there is an ordinance prohibiting sidewalk advertising of any nature.

At the Street Department of the Department of Public Works he learned there is a "tacit agreement" between Mayor Rossi and police which permits flower stands to remain unmolested. "Possibly," he was told, "such an agreement exists between the Mayor and the police regarding newsstands too."

San Franciscans are wondering how much "San Francisco's finest" receive in return for their disregard for the thousands of Examiner stands and those of other capitalist dailies which at present adorn the sidewalks.

Attempting to set up his stand at Mission and Fourth streets Thursday morning, the Western Worker salesman was "turned

Scabs Routed By Pickets in N. M. Miners' Strike

PAPERS IGNORE HEROIC COAL STRUGGLE AT TORRERO

TERRERO, N. M.—(FP)—The Pecos country, famous in fiction for gunplay and adventure, saw a new drama when pickets for the striking miners of the American Metal Co., defending themselves with rocks, routed and disarmed a squad of scabs and company plug uglies.

In the battle, two unarmed strikers were wounded, and a scab foreman suffered a cracked head. The encounter took place in a narrow defile that runs along the Pecos river leading up almost three miles to the camp. Not until Sheriff Francisco P. Delgado of San Miguel county and his deputies drove the scabs into the camp in county cars did they get through.

All New Mexico daily papers, even the Scripps-Howard paper at Albuquerque, continue to ignore the strike except for company handouts and police reports. Terrero miners state no newspaperman has visited the camp, where the strike against the great Hearst-Wall St. mining company is in progress, except the correspondent of The Weekly People's News, FP member paper published at Albuquerque.

ANOTHER ANTI-SOVIET LIAR'S TALES EXPOSED

SOPHIE HORNYAK, HEARST WRITER MADE 200 RUBLES A MONTH

NEW YORK, Mar. 16.—Sophie Hornyak, latest Hearst recruit to the liars brigade of anti-Soviet writers, worked at Elektrozavod in 1931, received a salary of 200 rubles per month as an unskilled worker, was given a month's vacation with pay and free accommodation at a rest home every year.

The Daily Worker, central organ of the Communist Party, U. S. A., Saturday printed an exposure of Mrs. Hornyak secured through its Moscow correspondent. The above facts and others were revealed. Among the things learned about Mrs. Hornyak are: That her children worked and simultaneously studied at the factory school, earning approximately $400 rubles per month.

FAMILY LIKES IT

That she and her husband went to Russia under contract; that her husband divorced her in the Soviet Union and that her daughter refused to join her on her return to this country, preferring to remain in the U. S. R. R.

That her husband returned to the United States, remained here for a short time and then went back to the Soviet Union where he now is employed.

That conditions, which Mrs. Hornyak described as "intolerable" in her Hearst articles, were deliberately exaggerated and that they have been improved 100 per cent since she worked at Elektrozavod.

Mrs. Hornyak's articles are appearing daily in the Hearst press throughout the country. They are typical of all preceding anti-Soviet lies published by Hearst.

Germans Crack Wise at Brown Shirt Expense

BERLIN, March 18.—There is little butter left for the common people of Germany and the shortage is causing the Nazis plenty of trouble. The situation also calls forth a variety of anti-Nazi quips like this one:

White-haired grandmother, visibly annoyed: "What—no butter? Well, I'm getting sick and tired of this. And I don't care who knows it."

Near-by Storm Trooper: "But, little mother—why do you grumble? If you were in Soviet Russia you'd never get any butter."

Grandmother: "What's that? Have the Nazis come to power there too?"

Arizona Firm is Put on Unfair List

YUMA, Ariz., March 16.—Members of the Arizona Fruit and Vegetable Workers' Union have voted to place the products of McDonald and Sons, Inc., on the unfair list of the organization.

The local organization sent a request to the State Federation of Labor asking that the state body contact the shipper and demand that consideration be given the demands of the Yuma union.

WORKERS' OPEN FORUM

THIS CAME IN ANONYMOUSLY

An employer inserted a note in the Post. That he needed some workmen—a couple at most—And he found himself soon in the midst of a host. "My friends you must know that in hiring a man, Of course, I must get him as cheap as I can—For that's the approved competitive plan."

Said one, "I've a wife and children three; My aged mother is living with me, I need twelve dollars a week," said he. "I've a wife and child," the next one said, "My mother, thank God, is long since dead. Ten dollars a week will buy our bread."

"I've only a wife," said the third, "hence Our living involves a smaller expense; I'll take nine dollars as my recompense." "My wife each week earns a dollar or two," Said the next, "If I work for you, About eight dollars a week would do."

"I have no wife," said the next, "I stay With my parents, who board me without pay; So I will work for a dollar a day."

Said the next with a voice and mein subdued, "For twenty-four hours I've tasted no food; I'll take four dollars a week, with gratitude."

Thereupon to the crowd the employer spoke: "The lower the wages you are willing to take The larger, of course, are the profits I make."

"Two workmen are all I at present require; The two that spoke last are the men I will hire. So the rest of the crowd may as well retire."

The un-hired men began to retreat, "We've nothing to do and nothing to eat; Must we and our families die in the street?"

"Aye, some of you must, if the rest would thrive; Too many of you are at present alive. And only the fittest can survive."

And he is the fittest beyond dispute, The present competitive system to suit, Whose life comes nearest to that of the brute.

"You ought to remember you only exist For the purpose of grinding some other man's grist And swelling the gains of the capitalist. Some wretched hovel in which to dwell— If you can get this, you are doing well For a worker in this competitive hell!"

Books—Pamphlets IN REVIEW

Labor Defender, Vol. X, No. 3, March, 1936; 20 pages; price 10 cents.

The March issue of the Labor Defender, just off the press, was delayed because of a strike at the job printers where it had been printed.

The Criminal Syndicalism cases, Ernst Thaelman and a short story about cops and police courts by John Reed are features. There is a short feature story by a former Cuban prisoner, rescued from a United States seeking refuge from daily torture and is humiliated by immigration authorities.

I'M QUITE POSITIVE, BUT NOT SURE, SAYS GOFF ON STAND IN PRESENT S. F. HEARING

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—With the state now attempting to refute the evidence brought by the defense in Tom Mooney's hearing on a petition for his freedom on a writ of habeas corpus, many remarkable things go on in the court room. Those who manufactured the "evidence" against Tom 19 years ago, now find themselves hard put on the stand today. Their lies and evasions don't hold water, and when they find themselves exposed they are apt to burst of temper. The original trial of Tom Mooney is now being reviewed, detail by detail.

When the week of March 9th opened, Goff was still on the stand in direct testimony, telling about the "threats" against John McDonald and his own "conversations" with Billings on how to manufacture bombs! His cross examination began soon after. He proved the slipperiest of witnesses, with a very poor recollection for anything inconvenient, and a letter-perfect memory for anything in his favor. "Is your memory better in matters implicating Mooney and Billings?" Mr. Davis asked him sarcastically.

He gave, for example, a long, rambling account of testimony he said he got from Peter Vidovich, and repeated it under cross-examination, when every detail of it actually came from the Edeaus. He gave a highly fanciful version of Estelle Smith's "identification" of Billings.

"SAFE BLOWERS" Then came questioning on the famous "safeblowers" book, and he was forced to acknowledge that he had talked over the contents of the book with the Bureau of Identification over the week-end. Davis went over every picture in the book with him, showing that from no. 1 to no. 95 all but two pictures (one with no crime noted, one a burglar) were of safe-crackers. Then came this damning sequence:

96. Carl Ray—"I.A.W., injury to person"—12-12-15.
97. Frank Josephson—"I.A.W., same date."
98. Mike Radovitch—"Disturbing the peace."
99. Billings—1913 picture, dated 7-25-1916.
100. Mooney—1913 picture, dated 7-25-16.
101 and 102. Brown and Hanlon, arrested with Mooney at Martinez but never tried.
103 and 104. George and David Boyarski, no crime charged, U. R. R. pictures.
105. Frank Smith, "yegg and safeman"—4-6-16 (Note earlier date)
106. Nolan—7-28-16 (date put over erasure of earlier date).
107. Weinberg—7-28-16 (also erased).
108. Another of Mooney—8-1-16.
109. Rena Mooney—7-28-16.
110. Another of Billings—8-1-16.
111. Emma Goldman—"Anarchist," no date.
112. Berkman—no crime noted—no date.
113. James Martin—"safeblower"—3-15-09.

And so on; all the rest with the exception of one "medicine man" and six robbers, being professional safe-crackers. And yet Goff claimed that this was the regular "safeblowers" book and that McDonald picked Mooney's and Billings' pictures out of it unassisted!

Finally he decided that "maybe" the 1913 pictures were "on the book" or "on the bench by it." The climax came when Mr. Davis read a letter from Goff in 1924 asking for executive clemency for Mooney. In redirect examination, Mr. Mitchell asked him if he was still "in the same frame of mind" as when he wrote it. Goff thereupon delivered himself of a long tirade, including such ridiculous statements as that the time on the famous clock had been falsified by Theodore Kytka, that Fremont Older had told him Billings was at 721 Market St., and that Maxwell McNutt had said Mooney and Billings were guilty and should hang!

A TEMPLER LOST In the course of this oration, Mr. Finerty noticed that Goff was consulting some memoranda and asked to see them. When he attempted to take the rubber band off the bunch of cards, Goff made notes disarranged he began re-Finerty, and bruised his shoulder. For a few minutes it looked like a free-for-all. When Goff got back to the stand he was considerably shaken, and with his notes disarranged he began repeating himself until his usefulness as a state's witness was at an end. As Mr. Finerty remarked, Goff's "change of heart" really dated from the time McDonald directly accused him by name of taking part in the frame-up. Challenged as to this, he answered weakly, "I don't know." (Goff's masterpiece was the marvelous phrase, "I'm quite positive, but I'm not sure.") In spite of protests, Referee Shaw allowed all this libelous material to remain in the record.

CUNHA RAMBLES

Goff was followed on the stand by Edward A. Cunha, Fickett's chief assistant, who was still under direct examination when the sessions closed for the week. Again under the guise of refuting the testimony of John Fitch concerning an interview he had with Cunha in 1917, Cunha was allowed to deliver himself of a two-and-a-half-hour speech on the Haymarket affair, the Times explosion, The Blast, Joe Hill, Ford and Sühr, and anything else he could think of, and in the course of which he shouted—"Mooney is a murderer, Mooney is an assassin, Mooney is a dynamiter." Finally, almost frothing at the mouth, he yelled: "Why didn't Mooney quit (his radical activities)? Because he was a madman, determined to keep on till he landed in jail!" Mr. Finerty, observing Cunha's fanatical anger, remarked dryly, "Who's looney now?"

BLANKET DENIAL

Cunha's next blow was to whitewash himself in regard to the Osmun-Rigall letters, denying all knowledge of perjury or subornation of perjury. He said he had "delegated" Osmun to write Rigall because he and Fickett were going out of town, and that he never saw the letters until after the Mooney trial. From this he passed into a long and labored attempt to clear himself of the evidence given by Edwin McKenzie concerning the conferences with him, Older, O'Connor, and others following publication of the letters, when Cunha and Fickett, in terror, agreed to ask for a new trial for Mooney and then double-cross him. When the week's sessions ended Cunha was still telling about these "informal, personal conversations," in which he was an abused innocent vindicting himself against cruel and untrue charges. He denied that he ever said he would "throw Osmun to the dogs," or that he was in touch with McNevin throughout the Mooney trial or that McNevin signalled to him that the jury would convict. Next week he will go on with this story, before being cross-examined by Mr. Finerty.

HOW LABOR SKATES RULE ISU A RESUME OF COMMUNIST MAGAZINE FOR MARCH STEAMROLLER UNION TACTICS

(The Communist, March, 1936, Vol. XV, No. 3; 288 pages; price 20 cents. For sale at all Workers' and International Book Shops.)

Thirty-five delegates, twenty-five of whom were appointed by a ruling clique that has maintained its power through the destruction of trade union democracy, by mass expulsion and by constitutions which establish 11-man dictatorships in their District Unions, comprised the recent national convention of the International Seamen's Union held at Washington.

The convention met behind closed doors. While open threats were being made to wipe out the Western unions by vigilante terror, the convention ordered the withdrawal of West Coast unions from the Maritime Federation of the Pacific. The convention endorsed the proposed National Maritime Board, a scheme for compulsory arbitration. It approved bills before Congress calling for the establishment of continuous discharge books and government hiring halls.

VICIOUS ATTACK

The hand-picked delegates to the I. S. U. Convention repudiated and slandered and condemned the issue of industrial unionism. Only progressive delegates at the convention—the only delegates elected by the rank and file with the exception of the Sailors' Union of the East Coast and Gulf—came from the West Coast. And the discussion centering around Olander's report, which in the main was a vicious attack upon the progressive West Coast Unions—consumed weeks of valuable convention time.

These are a few of the justified indictments hurled at the I. S. U. bureaucracy by Roy Hudson, writing in the March issue of "The Communist." But Hudson also sees the silver lining of the cloud.

that on the surface appears so black. The progressive movement within the Seamen's Union is growing. The seamen of the East Coast as well as on the Pacific, are becoming articulate. Olander, Brown, Carlson, Scharenberg and Grange are fighting a desperate battle and they are doomed to defeat. American seamen always have been in the forefront of the labor struggle and they are going to remain there.

OPPOSITION

"The union members, many of them formerly labeled conservatives, as well as minor officials appointed by the top leadership and dependent upon them for office, are openly expressing strong opposition to the Convention decisions. Possibilities for winning the support of masses of seamen, as well as of many minor officials, for support of a progressive program, are now greater than ever."

The progressive movement in the Seamen's Union will advance, Hudson continues, along the line of rallying strongest possible support for unity of all districts of the I. S. U., for uniform agreements, for united action of all marine unions in the East and Gulf, and for democracy in the unions.

Alex Bittlemen's timely review of the month, an analysis of the United Mine Workers' Convention, another by Henry Gannes on the Supreme Court and the specter of fascism and a long review of Earl Browder's book, "What Is Communism?" are included in this month's Communist. It is a lively reading and it expresses the quickening temper of the progressive and left-wing forces of these United States of America. California's Sun Kissed Hoodlums

A Story of the Whys and Wherefores of Vigilante Activity - By Ronald R. Cooley

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Finding their ordinary forces inadequate to break a strike of mill workers, the ruling class of a small California city has organized a reign of vigilante terror. The systematic manhunt for strike leaders, Communists and sympathizers has resulted in "Sookie" Boyd, Communist and union official, being forced to flee his home and live and work as best he can.

Chapter III GOLDBAUM'S RIOT

Sookie Boyd, sleepless and hungry from a week of intermittent flight and underground organizational work, drove into a darkened alley and parked his car. He hurried furtively to a drug store four blocks away, dodged into a telephone booth and phoned his home.

The missus was almost sobbing when she heard his voice.

"Are you alright Hon?" he asked. "And how are the kids?"

"Yes, I'm alright," she answered. "Old Mrs. Roswell took the children the morning after the raid. She offered to take me in, too, but I thought I'd better stay here."

"That old scissor bill!" Sookie was astounded.

"That old lady's alright. Four or five Vigilantes came looking for you the morning after you left, and she waltzed right in and drove them off, single-handed and alone."

"Looky here," Sookie was alarmed. "Have you been bothered any more by those monkeys since then?"

"A police car came looking for you the same afternoon," she replied. "And they've come at least once a day since. But there haven't been any more Vigilantes; and the cop who comes to the door always rings the bell and is very respectful."

"The old girl must have put the fear of God in 'em," Sookie laughed. Then she added with wistful doubtfulness, "You mustn't come back here at all, dear. But isn't there some way I could see you?"

Sookie hesitated a moment, then answered in a low voice. "Come to Goldbaum's store tonight. Go around to the back door."

"Alright, I'll be there," she hung up. As Sookie musily removed the receiver from his ear he heard the operator's voice: "Just a minute, please."

"Did I talk more than a nickel's worth?"

"Just a minute, please."

With a sudden a panic he slammed up the receiver and bolted from the booth. The drugist's phone in the prescription department began ringing savagely. As he went out the door, he met the proprietor coming in. "Is that my phone ringing?" asked the latter.

"I guess so."

Boyd hovered in a doorway a block distant and watched a police prowler drive up and three cops pour from it. The excited drugist met them on the sidewalk, waving his arms.

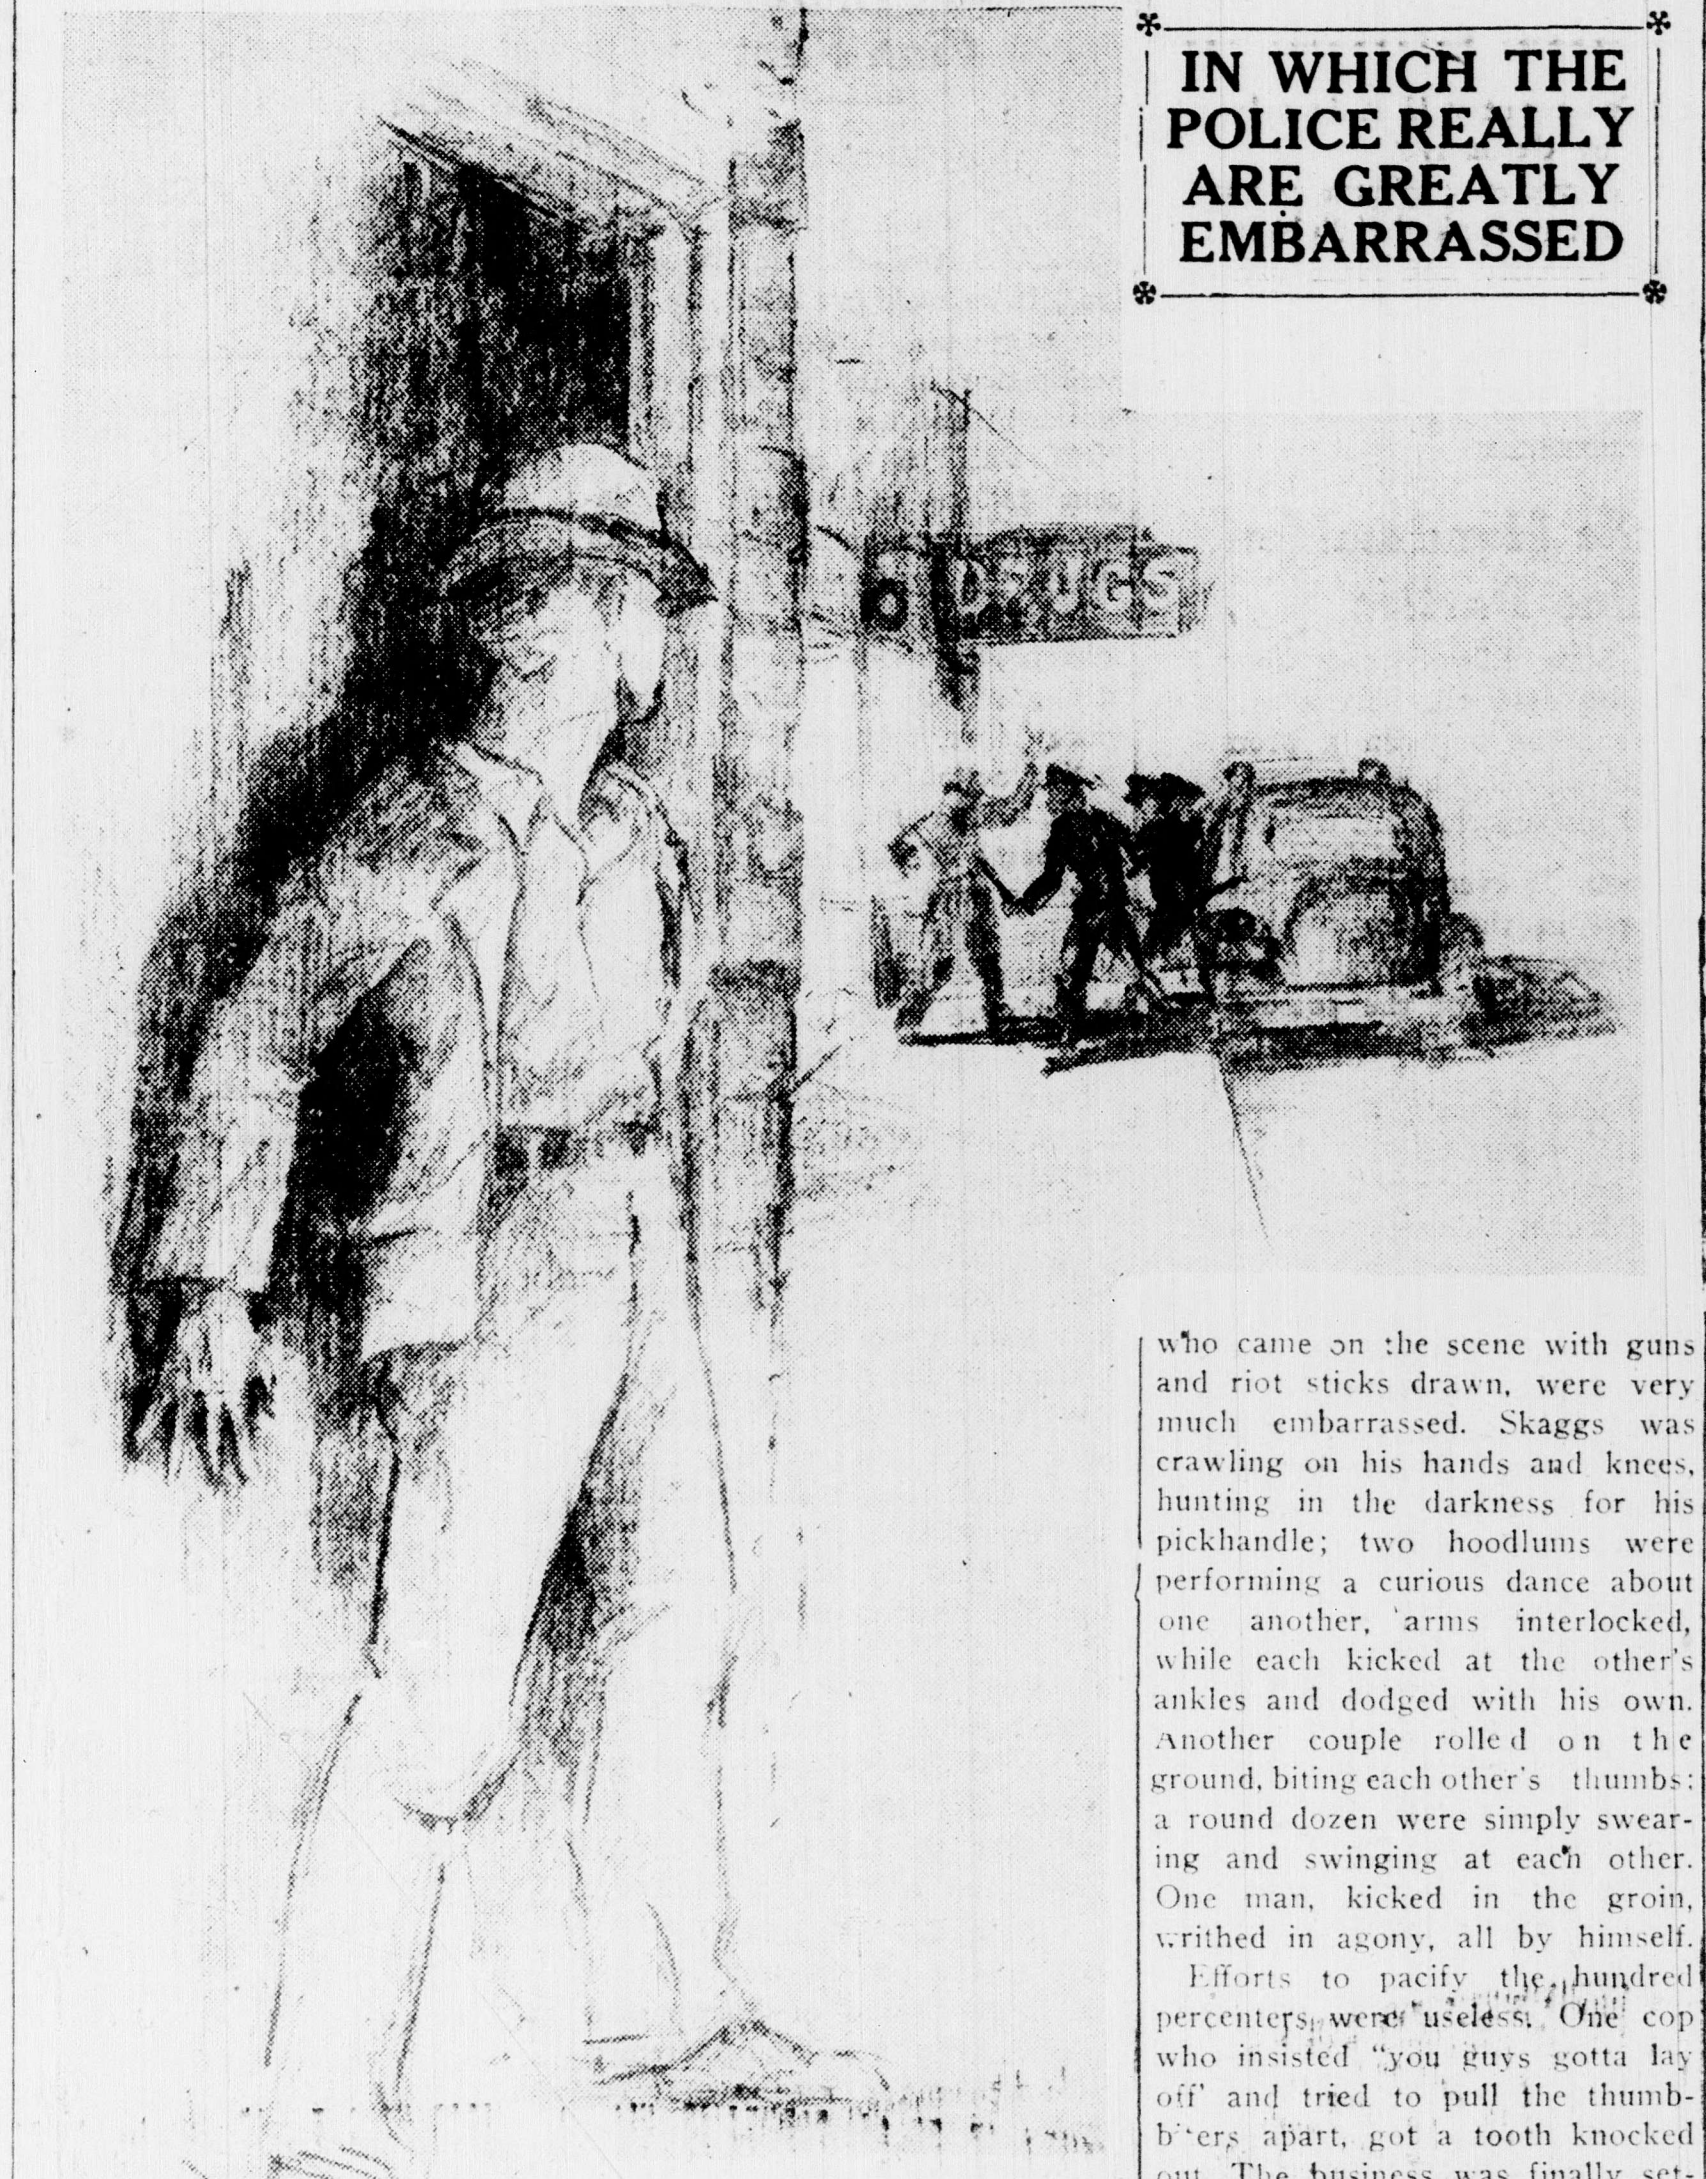

The officers began a search of the street. Boyd fled to his car and drove for blocks without lights.

"You fool!" he cursed himself. He tried to phone a warning to Goldbaum's, but the "line was out of order," and he fled again.

"A. L. GOLDBAUM—We Buy Anything" was the sign on the window. The faded awning which drooped over the narrow store front door bore the remnants of another legend, "J. C. B. Reiter—Gents' Tailor," but the few customers who dropped in to buy or sell paid no attention. The long, dismal store was more like a morgue, a gloomy repository for antiquated tools and aged pictures and curious clocks that had lost their ticks and needed pensioning off.

In the rear were three rooms and bath, where Goldbaum and his wife lived as best they could, surrounded with furnishings which obviously had been resurrected from the business end of this establishment. Presumably these furnishings were those they had abandoned all hope of ever selling.

The Goldbaums were Americans. This was so, since their grandparents had come to this country. Neither he nor his greying wife spoke with an accent, despite the fact they preferred kosher meat (when they could afford it) and drank tea from an old samovar. Nevertheless, there who came on the scene with guns and riot sticks drawn, were very much embarrassed. Skaggs was crawling on his hands and knees, hunting in the darkness for his pickhandle; two hoodlums were performing a curious dance about one another, arms interlocked, while each kicked at the other's ankles and dodged with his own. Another couple rolled on the ground, biting each other's thumbs; a round dozen were simply swearing and swinging at each other. One man, kicked in the groin, writhed in agony, all by himself. Efforts to pacify the hundred percenters, were useless. One cop who insisted "you guys gotta lay off" and tried to pull the thumb-bits apart, got a tooth knocked out. The business was finally settled with a tear gas pistol.

WHEN THE uninjured Vigilantes had been hauled off to the Legion headquarters for a bawling, out, and the wounded had been dispatched to a first-aid station, the officers turned their attention to the Goldbaums.

With his glossy riot stick on his back, much as one would turn over a beetle. From a corner of his sagging mouth trickled a small stream of blood. That, and a faint groaning, were his only signs of life. The old lady was sprawled rigidly on her back, glazed eyes half open. With an occasional convulsive spasm her hands would jerk protectively up before her, then slowly sag down. When they tried the rag from her mouth she accompanied these symptoms with a high pitched, hysterical cry. She was quite unconscious.

"Well, shall we charge 'em with vagrancy?" The captain scratched his head and grinned, surveying the battered door and the signs of struggle and strife that remained.

"Nah. We'll hold 'em for inciting to riot."

Next issue: A red-baiting union official finds his local is more anxious to strike against Vigilanteism than to work. He also finds the rank and file has something to say on "WHO'S OUT OF ORDER?"

Akron Strikers Massed Against Vigilante Move

AKRON, O., March 18.—Thousands of pickets, despite a blinding snowstorm, surrounded the Goodyear factory yesterday awaiting a threatened vigilante attack.

Meanwhile Sherman H. Dalrymple, president of the United Rubber Workers' Union, telegraphed an appeal to A. F. of L. President William Green, asking him to come at once to reopen negotiations with the company.

In downtown hotel lobbies, while important thugs patrolled lobbies, vigilante groups awaited a signal from ex-Mayor Nelson Sparks to launch a bloody attack upon the strikers' picket line. Sparks is Akron's would-be savior and has endeavored to enlist public sympathy against the strikers and organized labor as a whole.

Progressive unionists were a bit dubious over the possible presence of Green, who last year led the rubber unions to an unsatisfactory settlement.

FOR THE MEDICINE CHEST

Continuing our list of simple remedies for home use. While self-treatment is not at all a good idea, nevertheless we recognize that workers can not afford the medical care they should have every time they get a pain somewhere and this list, if properly used, can save our readers money that they would otherwise spend on patent remedies.

Prices listed are approximate. Dosages are for adults only.

GAS ON STOMACH: medicine, baking soda; one teaspoonful in water.

GUMS, INFLAMED: medicine, tincture of myrrh; apply to gums. Price, 35 cents an ounce.

HALITOSIS: medicine, chloroform water; dose, one tablespoonful. Price, 10 cents an ounce.

HAY FEVER: medicine, one percent ephedrine solution; drops in nose. Price, 50 cents an ounce.

HICCUGH: medicine, amylnitrite capsules, breathe fumes. Price, $1 a dozen.

Hoarseness: medicine, ammonium chloride tablets; dose, one tablet. Price 50 cents a hundred.

IMPETIGO: medicine, ammoniated mercury; apply to infection.

INGROWN TOE NAIL: medicine, hydrogen peroxide; apply to nail. Price, 35 cents a half pint.

ITCHING: medicine, calamine lotion; apply to parts. Price, 10 cents an ounce.

THE "ITCH": medicine, sulphur ointment; apply at night. Price, 25 cents an ounce.

LICE: medicine, Johnson's ethereal soap; wash parts.

LUMBAGO: medicine, chloroform liniment; rub on back. Price, 10 cents an ounce.

MALARIA: medicine, quinine sulphate pills; dose, two grains. Price $1.10 a thousand.

NOSE BLEED: medicine, one percent ephedrine solution; apply soaked cotton. Price, 50 cents an ounce.

PILELS: medicine, belladonna ointment; apply to piles. Price, 30 cents an ounce.

PINK EYE: medicine, three percent boric acid solution; wash eye. Price, 10 cents a pint.

POISON OAK: medicine, calamine lotion; apply. Price, 10 cents an ounce.

RICKETS: medicine, cod-liver oil; one tablespoonful. Price $1.50 a pint.

A San Francisco reader sent us "His letter."

Comrade editor: Yesterday afternoon I went into a dime store (neither Woolworth's nor Kress's) and bought the following articles: tube of tooth paste, cold cream, nail file, shoe polish, soap, thimble, darning cotton, elastic, package of pins, pocket comb and bobby pins. The total cost of these articles was $1.30.

I suppose you read the articles in the San Francisco News about what the Association for Improving the Conditions of the Poor says that a girl can get along on. Not one of the things listed above is included in their budget, and yet I don't think there was one thing I got that anyone could consider unnecessary, foolish, or extravagant.

I notice these things because a year ago I was on the SERRA in Los Angeles County. I did 40 hours a month technical work (the maximum I was permitted to work) for the magnificent sum of $5.24 a week. I was supposed to try and live on that amount. Believe me, I didn't dare go near a dime store—nor any other store!

When it came to recreation, long walks are still free. Books, magazines, even an occasional movie simply do not exist when you are on relief. I learned to read newspaper headlines on the newsstand to find out what was going on. When it reaches the place where you carry a letter to your folks around for a week because you can't afford a postage stamp it's pretty tough.

As far as this business of eating on $2.25 a week, as the AICI budget plans—I just wish the person who thinks it can be done had to do it for a year. Then I would like to know what he thinks about it.

$2.25 a week; that means 32 cents a day; ten cents for breakfast, ten cents for lunch and 12 cents for dinner. Of course the gas hasn't been turned off you can have a bunch of carrots, a couple of potatoes, an onion, a scrap of meat, a loaf of day old bread and a few coffee dregs. For variety you can have beans.

This isn't Hitler Germany, but I know this; anyone who says a girl can dress comfortably and decently for $1.50 a week and eat all she needs on $2.25 a week is trying to do just one thing; force down the standard of living in this country—just like they are doing in Germany and Italy.

I have a job right now and so I can go into the dime store and buy a few of the things I need. And although I don't eat avocados out of season I do have nourishing meals which cost me a good deal more than $2.25 a week. But I may lose my job tomorrow, and then I will be back with the other girls who are trying to get by on starvation rations.

And if I don't lose my job tomorrow I suppose that one of these days my boss will say to me: "The Association for Improving the Conditions of the Poor tells me that a girl can dress on $1.50 a week and eat on $2.25 a week, therefore I am going to lower your wages. It is foolish for you to get so much more when you really need. And if you don't like the wages I suggest you accept—I can find plenty of girls who will!"

Probably he will be a little more subtle about it, but that is what it will amount to.

I am glad International Women's Day was celebrated in San Francisco by a conference for women's rights and I hope the continuations committee will look in to the problems with which girls like myself are faced; food clothing and shelter. Those are three problems we all have in common.

Meaningless Peace Pacts—Stepping Stones to War!

Any international organization for the preservation of peace obviously depends upon the integrity of the various powers signing agreements. If these agreements are not lived up to, the international organization becomes a paper concern serving no other purpose than a propaganda gesture to give the masses a false sense of security.

The Versailles and Locarno treaties constituted such agreements. The League of Nations is the international organization designed to promote collective security.

But the Versailles and Locarno treaties have been brazenly violated by Germany and the general attitude of other signatories is toward whitewashing the Nazi aggressive move, countenancing the collapse of these treaties, and replacing them with new treaties which provide far less guarantees and which, established on these precedents of bad faith, will command little respect from any aggressive power.

The Soviet Union is virtually the only power represented in the League of Nations which has insistently argued for collective action to maintain the integrity of existing agreements. In the present crisis, France likewise supports this stand since it is upon her border that Germany has planted a bomb.

In demanding collective action, the Soviet Union does not imply force of arms but stern economic sanctions which, applied with sincerity, could effectively bring any aggressive power to terms.

The assertion of Hitler that the Franco-Soviet pact destroyed the Versailles and Locarno treaties and was in effect an aggressive move against Germany, is an alibi so poorly founded that not even the capitalist diplomats take it seriously. The Franco-Soviet pact is not a war pact, but a peace pact. In event of an aggressive move by either France or the Soviet Union, the pact is automatically dissolved. It binds the signatories to mutual aid only if they are invaded by some belligerent power.

Furthermore, no evidence can be cited to indicate that either France or the Soviet Union have the slightest intention of any aggressive move or any motive for such. To the contrary, the preservation of peace is vital to the interests of both powers.

This cannot be said for Germany, which nation has openly proclaimed its imperialist intentions and has converted the whole industrial strength of the country into a feverish war preparations machine.

Likewise, Italian fascism not only professes its warlike intentions with crass frankness, but has already embarked on an aggressive war which could not possibly have occurred had the League of Nations enforced existing agreements.

Today, all Italy has been converted into an engine of war and Mussolini's latest move is to dissolve all pretense of parliamentary government and place the nation under the complete control of the assembled capitalists.

In America we have seen not only the Hearst press, but virtually all capitalist newspapers in a concerted effort to interpret Hitler's march into the Rhine and the threatened destruction of all previous peace guarantees as "an effort to preserve peace." The San Francisco Call-Pulletin went so far as to announce Mussolini's complete capitulation to the capitalists in a headline which read: "MUSSOLINI SEIZES INDUSTRIES."

Amidst all this floundering and insincerity, the Soviet Union, through its participation in the League of Nations, is making a determined fight for the preservation of the League of Nations and the maintenance of existing treaties. Representative Litvinoff, in his speech before the League Council declared:

"It is quite clear that if the violation of international obligations does not meet with the organized resistance of the supporters of collective security, then this would only encourage aggressive countries striving for war to new acts, leading to the disorganization of peace and the creation of complete impunity for aggressors."

In regard to the proposed new pacts to replace the Locarno and Versailles treaties, Litvinoff pointed out that they alter the unlimited time clauses of the original pacts to twenty-five year agreements, that they eliminate most of the guarantees of Locarno and Versailles, and that:

"They are directed toward tying the hands and feet of Germany's neighbors with obligations that will not under any circumstances assist a third country if it is subjected to an attack by Germany."

Held up before the evasive, deliberately confusing official statements of capitalist diplomats, it becomes plain that sincerity and logic voice by Litvinoff, renders him the spokesman, not just of the Soviet people, but of every person desiring peace in every nation of the world.

Corruption, the Handmaiden Of the Old Line Parties

A janitor of the State Library and Courts Building at Sacramento assertedly breaking in upon a touching love scene between a prominent state official and a woman employee, reported the incident to his superior and was told:

"You see too much. If everything of that nature that went on in the State Capital were printed in a newspaper we would have newspapers double the size of the present newspapers."

This tiny item, hidden beneath a mountain of sensational material regarding the present immorality charges against a state official probably is the most significant thing to come out of this shake-up. It was printed in the San Francisco Chronicle on Saturday, March 21.

In one state all sorts of charges are made against Republican officials. In a neighboring state almost identical indictments are leveled against a Democratic regime. Nationally both parties are at each other's throats most of the time. Both are corrupt to the core.

Graft, corruption, immorality and just plain bestiality are the bed-fellows of both political parties. These things are incidental to the job of best representing the interests of Wall Street and the whole employing class. They go hand in hand with the selling out of the common people. The bankers and industrialists buy what they want and they don't give a tinker's dam how the money is spent later.

These high-salaried officials may be inclined to "fiddle while Rome burns," but the rank and file of America is awakening, bent on forming a Farmer-Labor Party that not only will not "fiddle" but will prevent Rome from "burning."

A Farmer-Labor Party will not elect or appoint its representatives on the basis of their ability to pull necking parties in the musty high-ceilinged offices of the Capitol building. No, a Farmer-Labor Party will fight for adequate relief for the right of the workers to organize, strike and picket for better conditions, for the right of free speech and assembly and for the thousand and one other things that beer-guzzling representatives of the employers have not fought for.

Now is the time to start organizing the Farmer-Labor Party locally and on a state-wide basis. The movement is striding ahead in the East. Unity is being achieved. California needs such a Party. Let Epics, Townsends, Communists, unemployed, Socialists and trade unionists see eye to eye on this question.

There is little time to lose!

What You Paid for THE WORLD WAR

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, in a statement given last year to the Associated Press, declared that the cost of the last World War in money amounted to $400,000,000,000. The cost in humanity was 30,000,000 lives.

Butler further pointed out: "With this money we could have built a $2500 house and furnished this house with $1000 worth of furniture, and placed it on five acres of land worth $100 an acre, and given all this to each and every family in the United States, Canada, Australia, Belgium, Germany and Russia."

"After doing that there would have been enough money left to give to each city of 20,000 inhabitants and over in all the countries named, a $5,000,000 library and a $10,000,000 university; and then out of the balance we could still have sufficient money to set aside a sum of 5 per cent interest which would pay for all time to come $1000 yearly salary to each of an army of 125,000 nurses; and after having done all this, we could still have enough left out of four hundred billion to buy up all of France and Belgium and everything of value that France and Belgium possess; that is, every French and Belgian farm, home, factory, church, railroad, street car—in fact, everything of value in those two countries in 1914."

"RIFF RAFF" AND RYAN

I. L. A. International Head Endorses Fink Film

By Michael Quin.

Lenin's most persistent advice was: "All confidence in the workers." If he wouldn't mind my adding one word, I would say: "All confidence in the intelligence of workers" and assert that the film "Riff Raff" is a ninety-nine per cent failure as regards the infamous propaganda purpose for which the producers made it.

It is an insult to unionism, a misrepresentation of working class struggles and an effort to convince labor that strikes and collective action are useless. It may confuse the minds of some of the petty bourgeoisie, but among working men it will create nothing but disgust for the Industrial Association influence that caused the picture to be produced.

NUT LEADER

Spencer Tracy plays the part of an irresponsible, crackpot, egotist, which is the picture's idea of a rank and file leader. The only good part of the picture is where Jean Harlow slaps him in the puss with a wet fish.

Theatres have been picketed in many cities where "Riff Raff" has been shown and, if the unions are on their toes, it should be picketed everywhere.

But what is more important than the picture itself is the fact that Joseph P. Ryan, international president of the International Longshoremen's Association, has written a letter endorsing the picture and the Loews Theatre chain has printed posters reproducing the letter as advertising.

SIGNED IN BLOOD

He might just as well dip his pen in the blood of Sperry and Bordo, the two longshoremen killed on the San Francisco waterfront in 1934, and write a letter of praise to the police department and the Industrial Association.

In the eyes of the public, uninformed on such matters, the recommendation of Ryan means the endorsement by the longshoremen as a whole. It is now up to the longshoremen to take steps to see to it that Ryan's action is refuted by the rank and file longshoremen and that the public is informed of the truth. It also calls for the most vigorous protests from every I. L. A. local against Ryan's action. Resolutions should be passed by every local and sent to all international officers.

West coast longshoremen have known for a long time that Ryan is nothing more than a traitor in the ranks of labor—an agent of the shipowners doing everything in his power to weaken the strength of the union and prevent growth. Longshoremen in some of the other ports don't know this so well. Ryan's endorsement of "Riff Raff" is as clear proof of his treachery as could be asked and presents an opportunity to expose him in every part of America. And every exposure should be linked up with Ryan's previous betrayals, particularly in regard to the 1934 longshore strike.

TUNA FISHING

"Riff Raff" tells a story of tuna fishermen and the locale is presumably San Pedro. But its implications are definitely meant to apply to the labor movement as a whole and particularly the San Francisco waterfront.

But ignoring the misrepresentations which slander the labor movement as a whole, let us examine a few of the facts concerning tuna fishermen alone which the picture evades.

A tuna fishing boat costs around $15,000. The canning companies do not attempt to own the ships. They have a much more profitable method. They loan the money for construction of the ships (through their control of the banks) to individual captains. The captains fish on their own hook and sell the fish to the canneries. They are held in bonds of everlasting debt and as rapidly as they get their money have to return the most part of it for interest on the money they borrowed to build the ship.

REAL SITUATION

"Riff Raff" showed nothing of this, but lumped all workers together under the general classification of "fishermen."

In 1933 there was a strike of the San Pedro tuna fishermen which had a curious character. The captains of the Tuna boats were striking against the canneries for a better price. The crews were automatically thrown out of work. For the most part they sup-

LABOR IS NOT AGAINST "RIFFRAFF"

Mr. C. C. Macdonald, General Manager, Loew's Theatre, Inc., 1540 Broadway, Manhattan.

Dear Mr. Macdonald:

At the regular meeting of the Central Trades and Labor Council of Greater New York and Vicinity, held on March 5th, 1936, our attention was called to a group of men identified with the Industrial Association, who are now presenting the movie "Riff Raff."

We wish to advise that at no time has the Central Trades and Labor Council representing the organized workers affiliated with the American Federation of Labor opposed any movie picture shown on the screen of the Loew's Theatre.

We specifically wish to emphasize that there is no opposition on our part against the movie picture called "Riff Raff" now shown at the Loew's Theatre.

We are cognizant of the fact that the Loew Circuit has always been fair to organized labor and have employed members of the various theatrical groups affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

Very truly yours,

Joseph P. Ryan
Secretary
ESMA
1046

LABOR UPHOLDS LOEW'S!

ported the captains, but they had no demand of their own involved. It was, in fact, a strike of small owners against big monopolies.

"Riff Raff" pictures a strike of the crews against the canneries, in a situation which could only prevail on the few ships that the canneries own directly.

DAME CRAZY

The issues of the strike in "Riff Raff" are portrayed as a quarrel between the canneries and the rank and file union leader over the favors of a girl who works in the cannery. It would be the same as implying that the 1934 longshore strike was called because Thomas Plant was making a play for Harry Bridges' wife, or vice versa.

There are a few so-called "Bolsheviks" who "love" about the fringes of the story with bombs that they are anxious to throw for no imaginable reason. They are very fat and heavily bearded and dress in filthy rags.

It is well known that the only bombs thrown in any waterfront strike were thrown by the police and employers' thugs and they were thrown into the union halls and not onto the docks.

SOME REALITY

In order to give some realistic touches so that the audience could recognize the story as occurring in America and not on the moon, the directors had to show some pretty thought provoking scenes. For one thing, the workers lived like animals in "rickety" hovels, children sleeping on chairs and in boxes, and wives worn to wretchedness by poverty and over-work. The cannery owner rode in the most elegant limousines and lived in a palace which was a night-mare of expensive nick-knacks.

Another interesting point is that Anita Loos collaborated in writing the scenario. She ought to be damned well ashamed of herself because she knows better. The things some people will do for money is remarkable. We can point out however, that when capitalism sets out to preserve itself, it has to depend on the infamous deeds human beings will perform for money.

When labor sets out to build a better world, it can depend upon all the courage and self-sacrifice that men will exert in the interests of what they believe in.

If Joe Ryan wants to classify himself with the lice in a garbage can, the longshoremen ought to put him right in the garbage can where he will feel at home.

Such a task requires unity on a nationwide scale. That unity must be achieved and the job must be done.

To What Do YOU Owe Your Success? GRAFT, CHICANERY IS A HELP Showing How It Really Is Achieved

"I owe my success to hard work."

How many bankers, industrialists and other financial magnates have made this statement to their would-be biographers? The kind of hard work these actual and potential Liberty League members do was told in the daily capitalist press last week.

For instance, there is a group of eight wealthy Los Angeles manufacturers charged with tax evasions amounting to millions of dollars. Edward M. Smith, multi-millionaire and seven co-defendants, all relatives, are accused in a Grand Jury report, of failure to pay income taxes.

Edward Smith, it seems, received hundreds of thousands of dollars through a system of placing stock in the hands of relatives and employees, although he actually kept the securities.

TAKES THE CASH

When the dividends came around the "dummy" investors signed the checks, but Smith received most of the money. They reported the dividends to the government as their own earnings and Smith got out of paying the tax. That's "success" story No. 1.

In San Francisco Herbert and Mortimer Fleischacker were accused in a suit against them of setting up a "dummy" real estate firm in order to loan funds of the Anglo-California National Bank to themselves. Both Fleischackers are executives of the banking firm. Moreover, it is against the law for such executives to loan money to themselves.

The money was "loaned" at low interest rates—often at no interest at all. Ernest H. Denicke, resident of Marin County and stockholder in the bank, has filed suit to force return of $912,000 from officers of the bank. Harry Coe, Tilden C. Tilden and Harry T. Thomson are named as defendants in the suit, along with the two Fleischackers. Fleischacker, by the way, is financially interested in a shipping firm on the San Francisco waterfront.

A BIG DEAL

"Success" story No. 3 concerns the well-known American Trust Company, a backer of the Associated Farmers in their drive against organization of agricultural workers. Control of the company, which is one of the major banking institutions of the country, was acquired recently by a San Francisco capitalist group. Fred T. Elsey, president of the bank, heads the group.

The transaction represents approximately $18,000,000 and is said to be one of the largest banking deals in the history of the Pa-

GENERAL WU SPEAKS FOR L.A. FRIENDS OF THE CHINESE PEOPLE

LOS ANGELES, March 25.—

First step in formation of a Southern California branch of the American Friends of the Chinese People was taken at a reception here last night in honor of General Fang Chen Wu at the Cafe le Paree. General Wu is also scheduled to address a mass meeting next Friday night, March 27, at the Figueroa Playhouse, 938 S. Figueroa.

Sponsors of both meetings include Professor Norem, professor of political science at the University of California at Los Angeles; Professor Norman Byrne of Junior College; Prof. Walter Hartley, director of music at Occidental College; Attorneys I. Greenberg and Charles Rubin, Doctors Leviton and Negri and A. Buckman and Miss Hughes.

The national headquarters of the American Friends of the Chinese People are at 168 West 23rd st., New York. Readers on the West Coast who are interested should communicate with Mrs. Mary Jackson, P.O. Box 6177, Metropolitan Station, Los Angeles.

Effie Coast. Where these gentlemen "found" the $18,000,000 is a matter of conjecture. But there's hardly a doubt a lot of it was sweated out of the maritime and agricultural workers in California.

DISRUPTER Forrest Beyer IS EXPELLED

SAN DIEGO

Forrest Beyer has been expelled from the San Diego Section of the Communist Party. For one year he has had a record of continued irresponsibility. Approximately four months ago he began association with Trotskyites. Thereafter reports kept coming to the section of attempts by Beyer to disrupt Party unity.

These acts he always denied as well as any organizational connection with the Trotskyites. But evidence to the contrary accumulated. Finally he was expelled by unanimous vote of his unit. Later this vote was sustained by the Section Duro.

It was at this Section Buro meeting that Beyer, when confronted with the evidence of his activities, admitted that he had been lying and that he was a member of the local Trotskyite clique.

The Party is warned against Beyer as an untrustworthy and counter-revolutionary element. (Signed) District Disciplinary Committee.
